GOLDEN OUTPOST

Nestled along South Golden Road, the Golden Outpost is more than a tavern—it's a heartfelt homage to everything we love about Golden, Colorado. Created by longtime locals and community champions Stacy and Joe Fowler, this rustic, western-inspired spot blends hometown pride with warm hospitality. As the new home base for the beloved Golden Hayride, the Outpost brings people together for great drinks, good eats, and unforgettable community experiences.

Step inside and you'll feel right at home. With a cozy tavern atmosphere, handcrafted cocktails named after Golden icons, over 10 rotating local brews on tap, and even mocktails and kombucha for those riding dry, there's truly something for everyone. Outside, fire pits crackle in winter while picnic tables offer a sunny perch in the warmer months. Weekly live music, game nights, and lively food truck rotations keep the energy high—and the flavors fresh. You can also grab a Bonfire Burrito on any day of the week, packed with local, scratch-made goodness.

But the Golden Outpost is more than just a watering hole. It hosts weekly Country Markets, featuring local produce, artisan crafts, and small-batch eats—all with no cover and unbeatable community vibes. From seasonal events and holiday shindigs to private parties and pop-up markets, this is where Golden gathers.

Whether you're catching a game, shopping local, or toasting under the Colorado sky, the Golden Outpost welcomes you to kick back, stay awhile, and soak up the spirit of the town we all call home.

INTRODUCING

Megan Hymanson, Mark Hymanson & David Grasso

The Gallery Range and Restaurant

Colorado's Only High-End Firing Range Experience — With a Twist

Step into The Gallery Range and Restaurant and you'll quickly realize—it's not your typical firing range. Located in Lakewood, Colorado, this high-end destination is part luxury hospitality, part training facility, and entirely unique. With a full coffee bar, restaurant, cocktail bar, and high-tech firing range under one roof, The Gallery is redefining what it means to bring community, safety, and service together in one space.

Founded by Megan Hymanson, Mark Hymanson, and David Grasso, The Gallery is the only concept of its kind in the state. The idea was sparked by 3 friends experiences in the firearms world. After encountering unsafe environments and less-than-welcoming customer service at other ranges, they knew there had to be a better way.

"We wanted to build something different—welcoming, empowering, and safe."

And that's exactly what they did. After beginning the business journey in 2020 and officially opening their doors on April 29, 2022, The Gallery has become a haven for individuals from all backgrounds who want to learn about firearms in a supportive and inclusive setting.

From beginner training to advanced competitions, The Gallery offers far more than a shooting experience—it offers a sense of belonging. With themed events like bachelor parties, corporate team building, and date nights, guests are welcomed into an environment that's as much about connection as it is about education. The facility prides itself on outstanding customer service and a friendly, judgment-free culture where safety and hospitality go hand in hand.

Their efforts have made a real impact in the community. One powerful example is their partnership with Pink Pistols, an LGBTQ+ firearms training group that calls The Gallery home. Over the years, the team has watched countless individuals overcome fear and hesitation to become confident, responsible gun owners who now take pride in their skills and safety.

"We're a melting pot," Megan explained. "All walks of life come here and feel welcome. That's exactly what we hoped to create."

Of course, launching a start-up—especially in a politically sensitive industry—comes with challenges. But these three did not let that stop them.

"We live here, we love this community, and we show up every day. We're not absentee owners. That makes all the difference."

And their community involvement runs deep. From supporting the Jefferson Center for Mental Health to sponsoring local favorites like Golden Buffalo Bill Days, The Gallery isn't just a place of business—it's a pillar in the community. They also host events and provide resources, training, and engaging activities that keep locals coming back—not just for the range, but for the experience.

To celebrate nearly three years in business, The Gallery is offering Rocky Mountain Ledger readers a special promotion: free firearms rentals with any lane reservation (a $35 value; ammo not included). Use promo code ROCKYMOUNTAINLEDER to redeem offer.

Despite its upscale appearance, many guests are surprised to learn The Gallery isn't a national franchise.

"People assume it's corporate because of how it looks, but it's just the three of us—friends who had a big crazy idea and chased it."

When asked what advice they'd give to other entrepreneurs, they kept it real: "Stick it out. Especially during the hard times. That's where the growth happens."

As for their favorite local spot to unwind? They gave a shoutout to Humble House Café in downtown Golden—"a charming little place on Washington that reminds us why we love this community."

With its innovative concept, strong values, and undeniable local pride, The Gallery Range and Restaurant is more than just a business—it's a movement. And it's only just getting started.

Golden Legacy Advisors' Financial Insights: The Power of Compound Interest in Retirement Planning

When it comes to securing your financial future, starting early is the key to long-term success. One of the most powerful tools in wealth-building is compound interest—where your savings earn interest, and that interest earns even more interest over time.

For example, if you invest $500 per month starting at age 25, assuming an 8% annual return, by the time you're 65, you could have over $1.4 million saved. However, if you wait until age 35 to start, you'd have only around $615,000—less than half!

 Take Action: If you haven't started saving for retirement, now is the time. Consider contributing to a 401(k), IRA, or brokerage account, and maximize any employer-matching contributions.

Denver Metro & Foothills Market Update

The Denver Metro and foothills markets remain active but more balanced compared to the frenzy of past years. As of April 2025, the median home price across the Denver Metro area is approximately $599,000, up about 2% year-over-year. Inventory has risen, with active listings up around 15% compared to this time last year, giving buyers a bit more breathing room.

Days on Market are averaging 30–35 days, a slight increase from last spring but still historically low. Well-priced homes, especially in Golden, Arvada, and the foothill communities, are often seeing strong interest within the first two weeks.

Overall, the market is healthy, with motivated buyers and sellers adjusting to today's 6.5–6.95% mortgage rates.

If you're thinking about buying, selling, or just curious about today's market, I'm always happy to be a resource. Feel free to reach out anytime — I'd love to help you navigate your next move with expert guidance and personalized care.
